the "tips jar" is really there just in case someone ever feels that they'd like to give a tip after reading one of my articles the first time you connect to a local drive on your computer, the citrix receiver will ask you if you would like to allow it to access your local drives in such a situation the mother has less thyroid tissue and cannot be hyperthyroid, even though she continues to have thyroid stimulating antibodies in her blood campaigns have had that opportunity to make the mark, break through, and at this point in the process, their inability to do so is catching up with them.